DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 1-3 are objected to because of the following informalities: In claim 1, use lower case "l" for each occurrence of the term "Logic". In claim 2, line 1, change "claim 2" to --claim 1--. In claim 3, change "claim 3" to --claim 1-- or to --claim 2--. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless ~

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Dent et al (Dent), U.S. Patent No. 6,542,716.

Regarding claim 1, Dent discloses an apparatus for use by an access point in a wireless networking communications environment comprising logic for scanning a plurality of radio frequency channels during a scan interval, logic for receiving messages from other access points on the plurality of radio frequency channels during the scan interval (col. 4, lines 12-23), logic for maintaining a channel map having an entry for each of the plurality of radio frequency channels, and if one or more messages was received on a channel, the corresponding entry further including an AP-ID for at least one of the access points that sent a message on the channel (col. 9, line 62-col. 10, line 2, col. 13, line 31-col. 4, line 2); logic for selecting a channel from the channel map; logic for transmitting messages on the selected channel during a claim interval, logic for receiving messages from other access points on the selected channel during the claim interval, logic for ascertaining whether the apparatus should commence communications with other wireless devices on the selected channel based upon characteristics of the messages received on the channel (col. 13, line 43-col. 14, line 2).

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 2 and 3 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims, and once proper dependency is determined.

5. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Prior art fails to suggest or render obvious logic which selects a channel having either no AP-ID or an AP-D that has the lowest stored power level.

Prior art further fails to suggest or render obvious logic for evaluating the power level of messages received on a selected channel, and if the power level of messages received on the selected channel is below a threshold, the logic for ascertaining indicates that the apparatus should commence communications with other wireless devices on the selected channel .

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Ahmadi et al, U.S. Patent No. 6,597,671.
